Romulus celebrates 'Emerald Anniversary' of city

City staff members and officials paid tribute to the 55th anniversary of the incorporation of Romulus as a city earlier this month donning green wardrobes, marking the "emerald anniversary" of the historic event.

Romulus was incorporated as a city by a vote of residents in 1970 and has continued a path of growth and development in the past half century, according to historic records. In his recent State of the City address, Mayor Robert McCraight detailed the continued growth and development in the community which encompasses just under 36 square miles.

City employees marked the emerald anniversary of the incorporation of Romulus by wearing green clothing last week. The city was officially incorporated by a vote of residents in 1970.

Historic accounts of the city note that the first white settler in the area that eventually became the village of Romulus was Samuel Polyne, a French-Canadian, who settled in the area 1826, though he left soon after the township was organized in 1835. The first settler in the village proper (prior to the 1865 annexation of the whole village and township into one city) was Samuel McMath, who moved from New York state to the area in 1827. Then came other founders, including Solomon Whitaker and Charles and Joseph Pulcifer who located in the area in 1830, and in 1833, Jenks Pullen and his six sons settled on land that became known as "Pullen's Corners" now commonly called Five Points.

The township was named Wayne in 1845 but renamed Romulus in 1848 and was a stop of the Underground Railroad in the 1800s when slaves fled plantations in the South for the free states of the North. There were two stops in Romulus and those structures remain intact today. One of those, the Samuel Kingsley Home, is a famous historic landmark in Romulus. During slave times, Samuel R. Kingsley lived in a house on Ozga Road. Historic records note that Mr. Kingsley hid slaves in an underground cellar. Today, the house is located on Hunt Street across from the Romulus Historical Museum. The White Church at the Pullens Corner / Five Points was also a stop on the underground railroad. Now called 5 Points Church, the building still sits at the corner.

The city is the site of Detroit Metro Airport and according to the last census data available, reported 25,178 residents back in 2020. The city was chosen by General Motors for the Romulus Engine plant on Ecorse Road in 1975. In 2018, Amazon opened a fulfillment center, north of Metro Airport near Ecorse and Vining Roads. Approximately 1,600 workers are employed at the site. Grocery retailer Kroger built a $95 million automated fulfillment center to accommodate fast-paced online grocery shopping near I-275 and Eureka Road in 2021. Romulus was the site of the first Sheetz store on Wick Road and a second of the national convenience stores is now under construction on Smith Road. The city is also the site of multiple major industrial park developments and has seen exceptional growth during the past decade, according to census data.

Special sensory hours are planned all three days of the festival for guests who are sensitive to loud noises and flashing lights. The sensory hours will take place from 1 until 3 p.m. Thursday and Friday and from 10 a.m. until noon on Saturday.

The festival will also include a large contingent of concession stands and gourmet food trucks, presenting signature dishes, beverages, and snacks. A special area of food trucks will be located near the Amphitheater

Capping off the Friday festivities, the highly anticipated Liberty Fest's fireworks display will take place just after dark. Sponsored by the Michigan

Army National Guard, the fireworks will only take place on Friday, allowing for a Saturday rain date. Starting as early as 6 p.m. June 13, Veterans Way, Heritage Drive, and Summit Parkway near Heritage Park will be closed to vehicular traffic.

Saturday highlights include the 28th Annual Canton Lions Club's Pancake Breakfast from 8-11 a.m. at the North Pavilions. Chris Cakes of Michigan returns to flip pancakes high onto plates for those brave enough to catch them.

Northville names new fire department deputy chief

Jesse Marcotte has been named Deputy Fire chief in Northville Township.

Marcotte will fill the vacancy created earlier this month when Michigan Gov. Gretchen Whitmer appointed then-Deputy Fire Chief Tom Hughes as Michigan Fire Marshal.

Marcotte, the department Training Coordinator, explained that he knew he wanted to be a firefighter since he was 15 after attending his first Fire Explorer class. Now, after 23 years of service in the township, he is known on an international level for his skills in instructor development and evidence-based fireground tactics.

He has served as a lead instructor for various fire department programs delivered nationally. In addition to training the entire Northville Township Fire Department on a daily basis, he is a senior education and training coordinator for the Fire Safety Research Institute (FSRI), a part of UL Research Institutes, joining the team in 2023. He currently serves on the ISFSI Board of Directors.

"His (Marcotte) passion for excellence and tireless efforts in advancing Northville Township Fire Department's capabilities have earned the respect of colleagues, community members and the fire service at large," said Northville Township Fire chief Brett Chief Siegel. "I'm grateful for such a talent to help lead our department."

"Congratulations to Tom Hughes on his appointment as State Fire Marshal," said Marcotte said. "He is an incredible fire service professional and one of my closest friends. I will do my best to continue his legacy and am deeply honored to serve the men and women of this department. Northville Township's unwavering commitment to exceptional fire and EMS services was one of the biggest reasons my family chose to make this community our home."

Jesse Marcotte

Township Supervisor Mark Abbo said Marcotte's promotion comes at an opportune time for the community. The Northville Township Fire Department opening of Fire Station No. 2 at the Essential Services Complex, 40911 Seven Mile Road, was scheduled this week.

"Jesse is an organized, thoughtful, innovative leader," Abbo said. "His passion captures the essence of our emphasis on public safety with our new Public Safety Headquarters and our dedication to delivering exceptional service to Northville Township."

Canton Leisure Services is again joining forces with RF Events to host the 12th Annual Liberty Run, including 5K, 10K, and One Mile events. Participants are encouraged to register at www.cantonlibertyrun.com and run, walk, or stroll in these events. Participants will also receive finisher medals, as well as a race T-Shirt. Plus, running-theme awards will be handed out to the best "Red, White, and Blue" running outfit.

Hydration stations will be available throughout the park giving festivalgoers a chance to cool off.

Merchandise from local artisans, crafters, businesses, and vendors will be featured around the large pond at the Liberty Fest Marketplace from 4-10 p.m. Friday and from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. Saturday. Returning favorites include the Scholastic Book Fair; LEGO Station provided by MichLUG (Michigan LEGO Users Group).

The Canton Liberty Fest mobile app for Apple and Android users will also be available prior to the event. Festival visitors will be able to access everything about the event.
Event organizers strongly discourage visitors from bringing pets onto festival grounds. However, dogs that attend the festival must remain on a leash, be under their owner's control, and be on their best behavior at all times. Due to the large crowds and significant traffic congestion expected during Liberty Fest, there will be no designated drop-off or pick-up location within Heritage Park.

Organizers said they strongly encourage all festival attendees to plan ahead and coordinate drop-offs and pick-ups at locations outside the park. Identifying a safe and convenient meeting spot in advance will help ensure a smoother experience for everyone, they advised.

All bikes must be parked in a bike corral. For more information, visit www.cantonlibertyfest.com or call (734) 394-5360.
